Minimum Wage Bill Work Is In Motion

Compromise Talk Heard In the House

Backstage Activity Shows Alternatives Being Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of compromise echoed around Capital Hill today as the House got down to work on a bill to increase the present $1-an-hour minimum wage.

Despite the insistence of administration spokesmen that they were sticking by their original proposal, backstage maneuvering by both sides made it clear alternatives are being considered.

President Kennedy has asked for a 25-cent boost in the minimum in steps and added coverage for 4.3 million workers. A powerful coalition of Republican and Southern Democrats is backing a 15-cent raise and extension of new coverage to only 1.4 million workers.

With a final vote scheduled for Friday, Democratic leaders in the House have come up with a compromise they hope will avert a head-on collision that could prove damaging to Kennedy's prestige.

It would tie Kennedy's wage proposal to the new coverage for 1.4 million in the coalition substitute. The wage would go to $1.15 four months after enactment and to $1.25 two years later. New coverage would be limited to employees of retail chains with at least five outlets in two states.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., has been tapped to present the compromise in hopes of luring Southern Democrats from support of the coalition bill.

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, leader of the Republican forces in the coalition, has announced he will oppose the Vinson measure. But he acknowledges it will probably drain off enough of his Southern support to make its passage likely.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg issued a strong denial that the administration was backing down in any way from its proposals. But the introduction shortly afterward of the Vinson substitute made it clear the House leadership, at least, is not opposed to a compromise.

Masked Gunmen Rob a Wealthy Man and Guests

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Three masked gunmen broke into the 26-room Harry Kirk Waggoner mansion Wednesday night and robbed the wealthy grain miller and two guests of more than $2,000 in cash and valuables.

Waggoner, William Tacey and Arthur B. Street were locked in an ice room, no longer used, while the intruders made their getaway in Street's car. It was found later three blocks away.

The ice room door was nailed shut by the gunmen but Waggoner led his guests through a window. Telephone lines to the home, a landmark built by the Waggoner family in the 1870s, were cut. Tacey drove to the police station to report the robbery.

Waggoner said he lost a $1,400 diamond ring, $20 in cash and $400 camera. Tacey lost a 3½-carat diamond ring and $885 in cash. Street was robbed of $70.

One of the men stood guard over the three victims, who were ordered to lie on the floor, while the other two ransacked the home.

Not Likely

There is some consolation in this weather: Spring fever hasn't taken hold of anyone we know.

Clearing tonight: Friday mostly sunny and warmer; low tonight mid 30s; high Friday mid 50s.

The temperature Thursday was 40 at 7 a.m. and 47 at 1 p.m. Low Wednesday night was 39.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 43; low 15; two years ago, high 73; low 40; three years ago, high 41; low 35.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 55.7 feet; 4.3 below full reservoir; down .3

Hearing Continued

The scheduled hearing for Frank John Amaro, charged with attempted arson of the Gordon Building, has been continued to April 21 on request of Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz.

The hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday. Fritz asked for the continuance because the Grand Jury in session is investigating the arson attempt.

Ralph Messina, also charged with the arson attempt, is also scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing April 21.

Senate Bill Offers Plan To Share Cost

In Distribution Of Commodities To Unemployed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House today passed a Senate bill to require the state to share 50-50 any county's costs in distributing surplus commodities to the families of unemployed persons.

The bill must go back to the Senate for consideration of an amendment that would extend the state aid for two years instead of one. Sponsors said if the present recession continued past a year the legislature would have to come back in special session unless the amendment were added.

They estimated the cost to the state would be $967,000 for two years and the same amount to the counties if all of them participated.

Bills to appropriate the money already have been introduced.

The House also received a bill that would provide state dependent children aid to youngsters of jobless parents. That would give those families an average of about $25 a month for each child if the bill was passed by both houses and signed by the governor. No estimate of its cost was supplied.

Some 10 counties already are distributing federal surplus commodities and paying the full cost themselves.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The barge season on the Missouri River arrived Wednesday, two weeks ahead of time.

Nine barges came up river to be loaded and unloaded for the return trip downstream.

Rebel Leader Pledges

Castro Overthrow Seen in 18 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of two major Cuban exile groups pledges that the overthrow of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will end firing squads and bring free elections within 18 months.

Jose Miro Cardona, 59, a lawyer who served six weeks as premier at the start of the Castro regime, Wednesday announced formation of a new "revolutionary council," with himself as co-ordinator-general.

The Council consists of representatives of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, regarded as middle-of-the-road and favoring free enterprise, and the Revolutionary Movement of the People, considered left-wing but anti-Communist.

Cardona told a news conference the aim of the council is to overthrow the Communist tyranny which enslaves the people of Cuba and to reestablish moral peace and harmony among all Cubans."

Eisenhower resigned from the Army to run for president in 1952. When he left office he expressed a wish to have the rank back again. Kennedy urged prompt legislative action, and Congress quickly passed a bill to do it.

Cardona's program calls for a return to private investment and free enterprise in Cuba. The Communist party would be outlawed and traditional relations with "democratic countries" would be renewed. Also, members of Castro's armed forces who take part in an uprising would be retained in military service and promoted.

The new council plans to designate itself as "the government of Cuba in arms" rather than a government in exile.

If the council called itself a government in exile, it would violate U.S. law, which prohibits establishing a provisional government in this country without official consent. State Department press officer Lincoln White said Wednesday in Washington: "No such consent has been asked or given."

Cardona told newsmen the revolutionary effort received no financial or moral support from the U.S. government. Financial aid, he said, was coming from Cubans everywhere in amounts "from pennies upward."

Benefits Bill Near Approval

Only Needs Signature Of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing an emergency extension of unemployment benefits totaling almost $1 billion needs only President Kennedy's signature to become law.

The President had given the measure top priority among his emergency steps to deal with the recession.

Fifteen days after he signs the bill extra unemployment checks will begin going to persons who have been out of work so long they have used up present benefits.

The extra benefits could reach as many as three million jobless during the two-year eligibility period which began last July 1. Duration of the extra benefits will vary according to states up to a maximum of 13 weeks.

As it passed House and Senate Wednesday, the legislation was a compromise version of different bills passed previously by the two bodies.

The federal government will advance money to the states to start the program and will be repaid later from proceeds of the tax increase.

New Budget Adopted Curtails Operations

The new budget adopted by the Board of Public Works has resulted in curtailments in all operations of the Sedalia Water Department. All renewal and replacement work has been eliminated and normal repair work has been reduced 50 per cent. Because of this, six employees have been laid off, the Board announced.

It is obvious that the elimination of improvements to the waterworks system and the forced reduction of repair work can only be a postponement of such work. Continuing this delay will result in the deterioration of the system and will cause heavier expenditures by the Water Department in the future years, the Board indicated.

The lay-off of six men reduces the work force to 31 employees. After the annual audit is completed, the Board indicated, it will be necessary to separate one office employee in addition to the six men who leave March 31. This leaves five less employees than were on the payroll at the time the Water Company was purchased.

Operation and maintenance expenses have been reduced to the lowest point consistent with safe operations of the water department. No further reductions can be made without endangering the entire operation, the Board reported.

Each dollar of revenue under with the current year, will be spent as follows:

	1961 - 1962 Fiscal Year	Year Ending Mar. 31, 1961

Easter Seal Sales Reach $1,500 Mark

The 1961 Easter Seal appeal in Pettis County has reached its half-way point with $1,500 contributed to provide help for the indigent physically handicapped children and adults in the county in the 12 months ahead.

John C. McCloskey, chairman of the county Easter Seal Society, said that the society needs at least $3,000 if it is to render services to the anticipated increasing numbers of physically disabled resulting from accidents, birth defects and diseases.

McCloskey pointed out that Easter Seal funds are used to provide direct services such as financial assistance for medical and hospital expenses; transportation to and from treatment and rehabilitation centers; the loan and payment of wheel chairs, crutches, artificial limbs and other appliances; speech and hearing clinics and many other educational and vocational services.

McCloskey urged all persons to respond to Easter Seal appeal letters before Easter Sunday, April 2.

Summer TV And Re-runs; Old Partners

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you wonder what television's summer viewing will be like the answer is one word: re-runs.

Out of the 100-odd prime-time TV programs on the three major networks, more than 80 will mark time during the hot weather months with repeats of winter shows. Even the Ed Sullivan Show which used to boast about its year-round new shows will serve up eight re-runs.

NBC's schedule still contains some holes, including Perry Como's replacement.

Most of NBC's new shows will come on Friday nights—"Whispering Smith," an action series with Audie Murphy, a return of "The Lawless Years," police-action series, and "Preview Playhouse," a collection of pilot films that failed to sell.

CBS also has some empty spots to fill, but will give us a Wayne and Shuster situation comedy, "Holiday Lodge" during Jack Benny's vacation; "Brenner," a police-action series which had a brief run once before.

The network will also repeat Playhouse 90 shows of other years on Tuesday nights during warm weather.

Just about the only new material scheduled for ABC is old, old movies on its "Silents Please" series, which bows in this week.

Shirley Booth made one of her rare TV appearances Wednesday night in a little drama custom tailored to her talent. It was CBS' Steel Hour and was called "Welcome Home."

Miss Booth played Jenny, who had run the house and raised the children of the Austin family for years. The children had grown and left, and now the parents wanted to sell the big house and travel.

Jenny is faced with being set adrift with a pension and no one to take care of.

It was a gentle wisp of a story. But it became warm and funny and sad with Miss Booth's acting magic. She had some very expert help, too, from a fine cast including William Hansen, who played an irascible but staunch handyman.

It was a sentimental and delightful hour and even had a happy ending.

Recommended tonight: "Silents Please," ABC, 10:30-11 Eastern Standard Time—return of condensed version of silent movie classics, starting with Douglas Fairbanks Sr. in "The Black Pirate."

Phi Phi Chapter Has Tramp Poverty Rush Party Monday Eve

Ten members, nine guests and the sponsor of Phi Phi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, dressed as tramps attended the tramp rush party held at the home of Jackie Wilson, 1111 Herold Ave., Monday evening.

Guests were, Gaye Baughman, Mary Ruth Embry, Donna Perdue, Myrna Gorrell, Charlene Wilson, Carol Goetz, Melva Bohon, Barbara Lee and Martha Schreck. Jerry Reno is the sponsor.

The evening was spent playing games and in conversation. Prizes were awarded the winners of the games.

Refreshments were served in a tramp's knapsack to each person present.

The next meeting will be at the home of Loyce Curtis, 222 South Missouri, at 7:45 p.m. Monday, March 27. Pledges at 7 p.m. Rushes are invited to attend. Officers will be installed at the close of the business meeting.

It was in that year, too, that the Optimist Creed was written by Christian D. Larsen, Los Angeles publisher, Knight said. For many years no one knew who wrote it, because Larsen did not want it known, but it was finally learned it was he who had given this great challenge to members of his organization.

Knight then asked that the program close with the repeating in unison of the Optimist Creed.

The meeting was presided over by Al Allgaier, president, with invocation by Floyd Stockton. Gerald Cecil led the singing with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Allgaier announced that the Breakfast Optimist Club would meet jointly with the noonday club in a night meeting Tuesday, April 11, at the Pacific Cafe, at which the oratorical contests for both clubs will be held.

Guests were Bob Lyle, guest of Cliff Barr, and Mike Askren, guest of his dad, Jim Askren.

Rho Tau Chapter Has Spring Rush Party

Rho Tau Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, held its spring rush party at the home of Ardythe Soppe, 1521 Driftwood, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The party was centered around a "beatnik" theme with decorations of the house appropriately made and all chapter members and guests dressed the part.

A skit, "Way Out for a Weed," was given by Mary Ann Lange, Nyra Price, Laere Fine, Jo Chalfant, Verna Schults and Evelyn Staples. Records were played throughout the evening as well as contests for picture drawing and poem writing.

Chapter guests for the evening were Evelyn Templeton, Marg Meyers and Alma Eckhoff.

The next meeting will be a model meeting at the home of Nyra Price, 2401 Dennis Road, Tuesday, April 4, at 8 p.m.

Pilot Grove PTA Holds Regular Meeting Monday

The Pilot Grove Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting in the high school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. with a good turnout.

The Parent Education Class met in the lunch room preceding the general meeting.

The president, Mrs. Lee Decker, called the meeting to order. "Quest for the Best in Vocational Education" was the theme of the program. The vocational Home Economics girls, under the direction of Mrs. Laverne Kirts, presented an interesting style show revue of the units they have completed this year.

Officers for 1961-62 are as follows. Mrs. Lee Decker, president; Mrs. Oscar Schupp, vice president; Mrs. Leslie Chamberlin, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Betteridge, secretary.

Ralph Cruzen led the devotional by reading an interesting article followed with a solo "Beside the Still Waters" by Sheryl Decker.

The freshman class won $3 when Barbara Nelson's name was drawn and the parents were in attendance.

The Cooper County Council of Parents and Teachers will hold their regular meeting in the Pilot Grove High School auditorium Tuesday, March 28.

A basket dinner will be served. The guest speaker will speak on "Requirements of a high school student to enter college."

Faith Day Guild Holds Regular Meet

Mrs. E. A. McColister and Mrs. Leslie London Jr. were hostesses to members of the Faith Day Guild of the First Christian Church in California.

Miss Mary Hert, program leader, talked on Burma and Mrs. Raymond Lawson narrated an Easter worship service.

During the worship part of the meeting Miss Brenda Howard sang intermittently verses of the song "Were You There" during the narration.

Miss Marion Flynt, president, conducted the business part of the meeting. The Guild voted to contribute $10 to the "Week of Compassion."

Members were requested to bring articles which are to be sent to the Albert Schweitzer Hospital in Haiti, before the next meeting.

Following the meeting the hostesses served a dessert course in the church dining room.

Mrs. Jerome Wirths Honored at Shower

Mrs. Jerome Wirths was honored with a cradle shower Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Zeller. Pilot Grove, given by Mrs. Robert Zeller, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Zeller and Mrs. Gerald Wirths.

The gift table was centered with a baby doll under a yellow ruffled umbrella. Vari-colored streamers hung from the ceiling of the room to each corner of the table.

Prizes in contest games were won by Mrs. Phillip Day, Mrs. Harold Joe Day, Mrs. Jerome Wirths, Mrs. Herman Gerke and Mrs. Herbert Zeller.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Favors were nut cups shaped like diapers.

Present were, Mrs. Jerome Wirths, Mrs. Herb Zeller, Mrs. Herman Wirths, Miss Jeanette Wessing, Mrs. William B. Lang, Miss Jeanette Lang, Mrs. Phillip Day, Mrs. Harold Joe Day, Mrs. Herman Gerke, Miss Barbara Foster, Theresa, Janice, Joan Zeller, Lois Ann Marline and Diane Wirths.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. Max Lovell, Mrs. Frank Imhoff, Miss Joan Stoecklein, Mrs. Owen Brownfield and Debbie, Mrs. Robert Oswald and Mrs. Dennis Stukey.

Smithton 4-H Club Plans Wiener Roast

The Smithton 4-H Club met at the Smithton School Monday with 39 members, six leaders and six parents present.

Several demonstrations were given as follows, "How to Make Liquid Shampoo," by Terry Williams, Good Grooming; "How to Walk Properly," by Shirley Cook, Clothing I; "How to Equip a Sewing Box," Jewell Craig, Clothing I; "How to Sew on a Button," Avanell Harlan, Clothing I; "How to Make a Wrist Pin Cushion," Beverly Eberling, Clothing I; "How to Take Measurements for a Skirt," Sherry Cook, Clothing I; and "How to Thread a Needle," Jojeva Ellington, Clothing I.

Sally Gee and Jeanie Scott gave a demonstration of health by showing two films "Health Habits" and "Health Helpers."

Project groups having meetings since the last club meeting were Electricity I, Clothing I, Food I and II and Photography.

Millions Finding Adoption Of Children Is No Mistake

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Should we try to adopt a baby? If we do, how do we know it will work out all right? What if it should turn out to be a mistake?"

Millions of childless American couples ask themselves those questions.

Many have asked my wife, Frances, and me these same questions since we adopted a 5-week-old daughter, Tracy Ann, nearly eight years ago.

Our answer invariably is: "Don't worry about it being a mistake. If you have an urge to adopt a child, the biggest mistake you can make is to delay or dawdle. The sooner you set about making an adoption, the more years you'll have to enjoy the child."

People who have never adopted a child have some weird ideas on this subject.

For example, they often mistakenly praise you by saying, "That's a wonderful thing you're doing—to take a strange infant into your home and treat it as your own."

Actually, of course, it's just the other way around. It is the child that is doing you a favor by widening and deepening your life with a new sense of fulfillment.

Others ask dubiously, "Do you ever really quite get to think of an adopted child as your own flesh and blood?"

Smithton Soldier Ends Vehicle Course

Pfc. Donald W. Seifner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse J. Seifner, Route 1, Smithton, recently completed the four-week organizational maintenance wheeled vehicle course at the Army European Engineer - Ordnance School in Murnau, Germany.

Seifner is a clerk in Battery B of the 3rd Armored Division's 3rd Artillery in Butzbach.

He entered the Army in September 1959, completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, and arrived overseas in March 1960.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Smithton High School.

His wife, Virginia, is with him in Germany.

Four Years in ThreeSedalia Students Enrolled In An Accelerated Program

Four Sedilians and one La-tunities of advancement. Monte resident are among a substantial number of students at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, participating in a new accelerated "4 in 3" program, according to Dr. Warren C. Lovinger, college president.

Local students in the program are: Wanda Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Walters, 409 North Summit, junior mathematics major; Iris Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville L. Cannon, 706 West Third, freshman mathematics major; Nina O'Neill, Route 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. O'Neill, junior business major and Lenore Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard, 520 South Park, junior mathematics major. Also participating is John Breshears, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Breshears, Route 1, LaMonte, a senior mathematics major.

College administrators all over the nation have been anticipating the time when the "impending tidal wave of students" arrived at their doors. That time is here, and Central Missouri State believes it has a partial answer thru its "4 in 3" program, an accelerated plan by which the student can complete four years of college in three by attending three academic years and three summer sessions.

Recognizing the needs of the Central Missouri District, the Board of Regents of CMSC has taken one more step toward meeting the educational demands by offering a complete year-round program, four academic quarters a year. Beginning with the summer quarter of 1961, the summer session will be ten weeks long, making it possible for students to carry a full schedule in the summer. With the ten-week summer session CMSC's plant will operate 46 weeks a year, yet allowing those on the "4 in 3" ample vacation time at Christmas, in August, and in the Spring.

"The streamlined 4 in 3 program," said Dr. Lovinger, "will result in a more rapid turnover of the student body enabling the college to enroll more beginning students, and to use the college plant more effectively."

The high school graduate will complete his college degrees one year sooner, bringing him an additional year of earning power. Those wishing to complete a graduate degree may do so in three sessions or the fourth year. Young men and women will establish homes earlier, and be on the job sooner for better oppor-

The answer to this is, "Yes, but it does take time." In our own case it took a full 24 hours.

Since then we have been blindly and positively and overwhelmingly certain Tracy Ann is our very own daughter in every way.

That is the greatest miracle of adoption. You don't wonder or doubt afterward. You are wonderfully, wonderfully sure you have done the right thing. You might kind of wish you had done it earlier except for one thing—if you had you might have missed getting the perfect child you now have.

"But aren't you afraid you might get a child with latent defects?" some people inquire.

Well, so far as I know every child born since the beginning of time had latent defects of some kind—of body, mind or temperament, which show up sooner or later. That is no sound reason either for fearing to have a child, or to adopt one.

Look at the world of grownups around you. Do you know of a single one without a defect, large or small? But most of them still find life worth living.

As a matter of fact when we got Tracy Ann, her defects were pretty obvious. She couldn't stand up, speak a word of English or even write her own name. All she did was lie in her crib all day kicking her chubby feet in the air, making odd noises and waiting for someone to do something for her.

At the age of 8 she has outgrown these early defects, and acquired others which in time we feel she will outgrow too.

The truth is that those we love endear themselves to us almost as much by their small defects as by their shining virtues. And children do a wonderful service for adults. By letting us care for them they tend to cure us of our own defects of selfishness and blind preoccupation with our own interests. They keep our world bright and young.

Living itself is a gamble, and if you want a child and can't have one, the best gamble you can take is to adopt one.

It isn't too big a gamble. Of the scores of parents I know who have adopted children, I have yet to meet one who regretted it.

Hearing Tests Are On in Morgan County

Personnel from the Morgan County Nursing office supervised the hearing testing of 50 Florence students last week. Gravois Mills school students were also checked.

Mrs. Helen Bolton, county health nurse, reported one student failed to pass the hearing test at the Florence school and a complete audiogram was accomplished on the student.

Five of the 87 Gravois Mills students were found in need of further testing and will be rechecked at a later date, Mrs. Bolton said.

Of Debating Team

Gary M. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene E. Cook of 1615 West Tenth, was a member of a four-man Wesleyan University debate team that participated in the recent New England Forensic Conference at Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Me.

Debating compulsory health insurance, this year's national topic, the Wesleyan team came away from the conference with five wins and three losses. Twenty New England colleges and universities participated in the conference.

Cook, a Wesleyan freshman, is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School.

School Bond Issue Rejected

St. Louis Shovels Dollars Into School Bus Operation

EDITOR'S NOTE — "Somehow we have to get our message across," says the superintendent of schools in St. Louis. The message: more money needed. But the city's voters turned thumbs down all last year. This is the last of three articles on school financing problems.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — St. Louis has found an enormous rat hole and is busy shoveling dollars into it.

In March, in May, and again in November last year, the voters turned down a $24.3-million bond issue to build new schools and modernize some of the old ones. They also rejected, three times, a $5.2-million bond issue for school fire protection.

Because the bonds weren't passed, and the schools can't be built, the school system this year is chartering 70 buses to transport 3,600 pupils from their home neighborhoods to schools up to nine miles away.

The buses are costing the city $195,000 this school year, plus $40,000 in overtime pay for teachers who supervise the bus rides. This is $233,000 for the 1960-61 school year.

No one seriously argues here that the new schools aren't needed: six elementary schools are at double their normal capacity; 2,000 elementary school pupils are attending classes in high school buildings; 525 elementary pupils are being taught in rented school quarters; some classrooms have as many as 60 pupils.

Then why did the bond issues fail?

Apathy, ignorance, and resistance to taxes were major factors. But in St. Louis it was something more.

It was distrust of the St. Louis School Board, rocked by scandal and hint of scandal. A racial problem apparently was involved also.

Perhaps most of all, it was a state law requiring that school bond issues must be approved by a two-thirds majority. "We can get 60 per cent," one leading citizen declared, "but that last 6 per cent comes mighty hard."

A school building commissioner, appointed by the school board, was removed from office by a circuit court on charges of gross misconduct in office. Several board members have resigned amid charges they used school board labor and materials on their own homes.

The voters are well aware of this state of affairs. One board member himself said that, under the circumstances, the people of St. Louis would be justified in turning down the bond issues.

Said one home owner: "Of course I voted against the school bonds. Why should I vote money into the hands of those people?"

St. Louis has a population of about 750,000, a drop of more than 100,000 since the 1950 census.

Much of the loss can be attributed to the flight to the suburbs, which many American cities are experiencing.

But in that same 1960-1960 decade, the average daily attendance in the St. Louis public schools rose from 80,626 to 90,581. Much of this increase has been in Negro pupils, who now make up about 45 per cent of the school population.

Many of St. Louis' problems can be traced directly to the slum clearance project in Mill Creek, a section in the near-downtown area. Negroes from Mill Creek moved en masse to North St. Louis, which had been a predominantly white neighborhood. There weren't enough schools to handle the influx of pupils, and it is these children who now are being taken by buses to other parts of the city.

"It's up north where they need the schools," said a housewife in conservative South St. Louis. "We don't need them down here. And if those colored folks think we're going to carry them on our backs, they've got another think coming."

In all three St. Louis elections the school bond issues carried by what, in suburban Parma, Ohio, would have been a comfortable majority. In February the vote was 62,236 for and 35,772 against (63.5 per cent approval). In May it was 35,826 for and 21,453 against (62.5 per cent approval). In November, it was 95,565 for and 64,755 against (59.6 per cent approval).

But in St. Louis, where it takes 66.6 per cent approval, these are recorded as just three consecutive defeats for the school bonds.

But apathy played a big part, too.

In March, the "no" votes of 11.1 per cent of the registered voters were enough to defeat the bonds.

In May, it took only 6.7 per cent of the registered voters to defeat their passage.

In November, the "no" votes of 18.6 of the registered voters were decisive.

As in Parma, there was no organized opposition to the school bonds. Both metropolitan newspapers urged their passage, although both papers had serious reservations about the school board. Catholic and Lutheran church officials supported the bond issues whole heartedly. PTA groups worked hard for them.

It was stressed that the bond issues would not be expensive. The average cost to homeowners: about $5 to $6 a year in increased property taxes.

"I voted against them," a white collar worker said. "I'll vote against them every time they come up. It means an increase in our taxes and I can't afford it."

"Look, here are my tax bills. In 1949 my property tax was $43.52, now it is $106.12. That's more than a 100 per cent increase. How much do they want, anyway?"

A housewife said, "our property tax is high enough right now. Those people at city hall are just

Wants Fair Farm Income Act Passed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Association, Tuesday night urged a federal farm program with authority to control farm production and set minimum prices.

Heinkel spoke at a meeting of the American Chemical Society's convention which is being held here.

He termed the program a "fair farm income act" and said it would:

Increase farm income, do away with the uncertainty of widely fluctuating farm prices, reduce the expense of the government stockpiling of un-needed farm products, strengthen the rural economy and assure adequate production and marketing.

He urged legislation permitting the establishment of national market orders—similar to orders recommended by president Kennedy.

But unlike Kennedy's suggested orders, Heinkel's would have minimum price provisions. Heinkel said Kennedy's program would have to include the price provision to be effective.

Heinkel had conferred with Kennedy before the president's inauguration and had been mentioned as a possible choice for secretary of agriculture.

Federal marketing orders now regulate the prices paid farmers for milk, regionally not nationally.

Heinkel said his proposed market order program would be subject to adoption or rejection in a referendum by growers of the products concerned.

Southern Papers Reported War Best

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The North won, but the South's newspapers gave a better picture of the Civil War.

They printed more articles showing the spirit of the times," says Richard Harwell, associate executive director of the American Library Association.

First Major Kennedy Bill Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has signed into law his first major bill—an emergency program designed to cut down tremendous surpluses in grains used to feed livestock.

Kennedy signed the bill Wednesday less than two hours after the Senate, by a 58-31 vote, completed congressional action. The House earlier approved the compromise bill 231-185.

Before Kennedy's signature was dry, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set the law's machinery into action. Their urgency was prompted by the season—spring is here and planting of this year's feed grain crops already has started in some sections.

Freeman immediately made public the national average price supports for feed grains—corn, sorghums, oats, barley and rye. All supports were higher than last year's.

Then Freeman flew to Omaha to address today the first of three field meetings with Agriculture Department personnel. They will relay details of the program to farmers.

Freeman said Assistant Secretary James R. Ralph will address the second field meeting in Denver Friday, and Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy will talk at the third in Atlanta Monday.

Briefly, the law works this way: In order to get the new, higher price supports on corn, and sorghums, farmers must cut their acreages for those grains at least 20 per cent.

In return, they would be eligible for the support price for half the average crop they would have produced on the retired land.

They can further reduce their corn and sorghum acreage up to a total of 40 per cent, and get a slightly higher payment for the second 20 per cent of land they retire. The retired land must be planted to conservation crops.

But what about the farmer who stays out of the plan, not reducing his acreage at all? He might hope to cash in on a high market price at the end of the year.

In order to prevent this, and encourage farmers to comply, the secretary is authorized to sell some government grain in the open market, thus driving down the market price to some extent. This is supposed to make it a rather unattractive prospect for a farmer to stay out of the plan and take a chance on the market price.

Federal Medical Aid to Aged Is OK'd By Group

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Support of the Kerr-Mills Act for federal medical aid to the aged has won support of the Missouri State Medical Association at its annual convention.

The association recommended Wednesday to the state Legislature that it implement the law in Missouri "to such a degree as may appear necessary and in order of need."

A medical aid plan supported by the Kerr-Mills Act was denied sanction by the association.

Both programs are socialized medicine in principle, but the association said, because the state can act independently to help furnish medical care to the needy over 65.

Thirty-seven states have implemented the law. A state must furnish approximately 32 per cent of the cost. The remainder is provided by the federal government.

"It will certainly be beneficial to everyone in the county and is badly needed," Fairfax said. When completed the film will be shown by the Sheriff's office to all civic groups, schools and safety meetings as well as being made available to television and any persons or clubs requesting the film be shown. The sponsoring companies name will be credited at the end of the print, the business or organization sponsors.

Starting Work April 1 on New Pipeline Loop

TULSA, Okla. — Construction will begin April 1 on 60 miles of loop pipeline to increase capacity on Service Pipeline Co.'s trunk line from LaPlata, Mo., to Wood River, Ill., it was announced today.

H. G. Mariner, general manager of the Tulsa firm, said the River Construction Corp., Fort Worth, Tex., had been awarded the contract for the project to increase capacity by 20,000 barrels of oil daily.

The 250-mile system has a capacity of 77,000 barrels daily, transporting oil gathered in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Texas.

Judge Withdraws

Mrs. Lawrence Koeller, wife of the Democrat party nominee for councilman from the Third Ward, has withdrawn her name as an election judge for the April 4 election as result of her husband winning the party nomination.

OBITUARY

Emil C. G. Weinberg

Emil C. H. Weinberg, 67, died Tuesday at his home in Ionia, following an illness of about five years.

Mr. Weinberg was born Dec. 31, 1893, at Boeschen, Mo., the son of the late Henry and Margaret Mahnken Weinberg. He was married July 6, 1916 to Lena Helmers.

Surviving him are his widow of the home and three children: Leroy Weinberg and Oliver Weinberg of Ionia, and a daughter, Mrs. Emil Bruns of Olathe, Kan. Eight grandchildren also survive.

He was preceded in death by his parents and six sisters and three brothers.

He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church at Cole Camp.

Funeral services will be held 1:45 p.m. Friday at the Eickhoff Funeral Home and at 2 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Cole Camp. The Rev. Walter Dierking will officiate.

Pall bearers will be Harold Brockman, Lawrence Brockman, Clarence Burke, Roland Kreonke, Junior Weinberg and Bill Hamby. Burial in the Trinity Lutheran cemetery in Cole Camp.

Moonshiner Persists In His Illegal Business

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—When Claude N. Hicks was convicted last month of conspiring to violate federal liquor laws, U.S. Dist. Judge Albert L. Reeves refused to free him on appeal bond.

The prosecutor said Hicks had a long record of bootlegging activities and probably would beat it again if freed on bond.

But an appeals judge reversed the ruling, and Hicks was released under bond.

Federal and state agents arrested Hicks Wednesday at the site of an illegal still and charged him with violating federal liquor laws.

U.S. Commissioner T. V. Cashen released Hicks on $500 bond on the new charge.

The disturbed, red-haired beauty fled from the girl's school at Columbia, Mo., Monday. She walked into a Memphis police station that night and asked:

"Who am I and what am I doing here?"

At a hospital, she decided she was Marie Balmer, which was no help to police. She was traced Wednesday through a label in her wallet.

When officers told her she is Elizabeth Bodden, she became hysterical.

"I won't be that girl," she said. "She's weak, no strength, no convictions. She doesn't care. She doesn't try. I am not that girl. I reject that girl. My name is Marie Balmer."

A psychiatrist said Elizabeth will be all right as soon as she gets all the tension out of her. Hospital officials said she seemed to be happier.

Electric Auto Is Under Test In Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority is testing a new electric automobile on the streets of Chattanooga. The federal agency thinks such cars might be widely used in the future.

A spokesman said TVA wants to know about the operation, maintenance and reliability of these cars, since they would use substantial amounts of electricity if they become popular.

The test car, which went into use Wednesday on public safety patrol, is powered by 12 heavy-duty, 6-volt batteries and cost TVA $4,400. It has a top speed of about 30 miles per hour and a range of about 40 miles.

The batteries are re-charged through a 110-volt electric cord, which plugs into an ordinary home outlet.

To Observe 70th Anniversary At Site of Wedding

EVART, Mich. (AP)—Seventy years ago Friday Jessie Bartholomew and Grace Osmer got married. A circuit preacher walked five miles and rowed across the Muskegon River to officiate.

Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew will stand in the same corner of the same living room where they were married. They'll be greeting guests at an open house.

Also on hand will be their son and daughter, five grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Jesse, 93, said the years seemed to have slipped by in a hurry.

Looking at his 87-year-old wife he remarked: "I guess it's because I married the right girl."

Scouts Collect Signs: Will Sell Again

MANISTEE, Mich. (AP)—"Operation Facelift," sponsored by the Manistee County Boy Scout Council, offers political candidates a chance to redeem campaign posters—at 25 to 50 cents each.

Teams of scouts will roam country roads in a cleanup operation April 8 to remove campaign posters put up before election. Candidates then will be asked to redeem the posters at a charge of 50 cents for winners and 25 cents for losers.

Money thus collected will finance a week at summer camp for the Manistee council's scouts.

Columbia Lady Heads Group For Registration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. M. Stanley Ginn of Columbia, Republican national committeewoman for Missouri, has been named to a special committee for a year-round, nation-wide campaign to register voters.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, Rep. national chairman, announced formation of the special committee Wednesday and said the party has made registration gains in several states.

Mrs. Irene F. Harrington, national committeewoman from Indiana, heads the registration group.

Morton said:

"I have reports from several states so far which show that Republicans are leading Democrats in new registrations and re-registrations, and this is a heartening development."

Restrictions On Trade Weaken Ties With Japan

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—U.S. trade restrictions are weakening Japanese-American relations, Ambassador Koichiro Asakai of Japan said Wednesday night.

He addressed a student gathering on the University of Missouri campus.

"It is a matter of deep concern to the Japanese people," he said. "Japan, next to Canada, is America's best trade customer abroad, and as for agricultural commodities, it's America's best customer over 65."

Both programs are socialized medicine in principle, but the association said, because the state can act independently to help furnish medical care to the needy over 65.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. Howard C. Naffziger, 76, known internationally for his pioneering work in brain tumor and pituitary gland operations, died Wednesday night after a lengthy illness. He was a past president of the American College of Surgeons.

When officers told her she is Elizabeth Bodden, she became hysterical.

"I won't be that girl," she said. "She's weak, no strength, no convictions. She doesn't care. She doesn't try. I am not that girl. I reject that girl. My name is Marie Balmer."

A psychiatrist said Elizabeth will be all right as soon as she gets all the tension out of her. Hospital officials said she seemed to be happier.

Sadism and Sentimentality Produce a Terrifying Pair

GATE AT AUSCHWITZ: The sign said "Work Gives Freedom."

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A cylinder of gas labeled Zyklon B14 may be the most damning piece of evidence to confront Adolf Eichmann at his forthcoming trial in Israel for crimes committed against humanity.

The cylinder, containing a deadly compound of cyanide, will be wheeled into court. Zyklon B14 originally was used to kill rats, until in 1941 Rudolf Hoess, the commandant of the Auschwitz extermination camp, thought of using it on human beings.

In the following years, no fewer than 2.5 million Jews were put to death by this rodent-killer in the gas chambers of Auschwitz, which were worked night and day.

The thick-set, brutish Hoess himself watched the first demonstration on Russian war prisoners. It far exceeded his expectations.

In his reports to Eichmann, Hoess speaks of the gas in the glowing terms of a salesman. The beauty of Zyklon B14, he told Eichmann, was that it paralyzed the lungs. Unlike carbon monoxide, it acted so fast that death came before convulsions could set in.

As a result, there was no livid coloration. The faces of those gassed were not contorted, nor was there any evidence of the victims tearing at their throats.

Eichmann, on the basis of Hoess' reports, was so enthusiastic about the new gas that he promptly ordered batches delivered to Auschwitz from the Hamburg firm Tesch & Stabenow.

Eichmann found Hoess "an excellent comrade and a very proper fellow." Both drove themselves and their staffs relentlessly.

Hoess had the mocking slogan "Arbeit Macht Frei" (Work Gives Freedom) erected over the main gate of Auschwitz. (A more appropriate inscription would have been that over Dante's Inferno: "Abandon hope all ye who enter here.")

Hoess was proud of his gas chambers, particularly of dummy shower-heads that made them look like bath-houses. He showed Eichmann how the corpses were piled, as many as 2,000 at a time, on an iron grill over a sort of barbecue pit.

"Hoess' men then poured some inflammable liquid over them and set them on fire," Eichmann recalls. "The flesh stewed like stew meat."

Hoess also showed his boss how the surplus fat was drained off.

Later, when the crematoria were installed, they were Hoess's pride and joy. Now, thanks to automation, the bodies could be taken from the gas chambers by conveyor belts to five huge ovens, each of which could cremate 2,000 corpses in 24 hours.

Eichmann valued Hoess not only as a tireless co-worker, but as a family man as well. He liked the rose-covered cottage where the Hoess family lived in the shadow of the crematoria.

"It was a homey place," says Eichmann, "clean and simple and furnished in SS-style natural wood." There was even a paddling pool for the kiddies.

Here, in the bosom of the Hoess family, Eichmann would drop his guard. Often he would play the violin to entertain his hosts (characteristically, he played second violin). Still, Eichmann never entirely relaxed.

"I remember, too, a woman who tried to throw her children out of the gas chamber, just as the door was closing . . ."

Sedalia Firm Displays New Type Vehicle

The Scout, a new, small, all-purpose vehicle designed for low-cost transportation of passengers and cargo, is now on display at Adams Truck & Tractor Co., Inc.

Functional design of the Scout, which is offered in rear-wheel or four-wheel-drive models, includes a three-person passenger compartment with removable steel top, five-foot long pickup body, fold-down windshield, removable door glass, removable doors and a new International Comanche four-cylinder engine as standard equipment. A full-length one-piece steel Travel-Top, that encloses both driver compartment and body, is optional.

The Scout represents a new concept in automotive versatility. It can quickly and easily be converted from a completely enclosed passenger runabout, small pickup or panel truck to an open model without doors.

Because of its unique and versatile design the Scout can provide efficient and economical transportation for a wide variety of family, commercial, sporting and agricultural uses. It has been subjected to severe testing, both in the field and engineering laboratory, to assure long operating life and maximum durability.

Styling of the Scout features a low silhouette with loaded overall height of 67 inches for the two-wheel drive model. The four-wheel drive model is 88 inches high, loaded. Heights are the same with either Travel-Top or standard passenger compartment top. The Travel-Top has windows on both sides and rear for maximum visibility, and top and bottom hinged station-wagon type tailgates.

A native of tropical Asia and the South Pacific, the flying fox catches fish with its feet.

Leek Hitting .441 for New LA Angels

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Gene Leek, remembered as the collegian who precipitated a war of words when the Cleveland Indians signed him off the campus, is hitting .441 for the new Los Angeles Angels.

The San Diego native continued his torrid spring swinging with a three-run homer that beat the San Francisco Giants 5-3 Wednesday and gave the Angels their first pre-season triumph over a team of major league veterans. They previously had won three games against B squads.

Manager Bill Rigney's problem is where to play the versatile Leek, 23, who was holding down third base for the University of Arizona when the Indians grabbed him. That started the verbal battle between college coaches and major league officials that culminated in a rule prohibiting such signings.

Baltimore's streaking Orioles won their fifth in succession after six opening losses by beating Cincinnati 9-4, and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates brought their record to 10-3 with a 10-1 win over the Chicago White Sox.

In other games, Philadelphia whipped Detroit 7-1, the Chicago Cubs nipped Cleveland 2-1, New York outslugged Milwaukee 14-1, St. Louis defeated Kansas City 5-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Twins' B squad walloped Washington 11-3.

Leek's 415-foot circuit shot was the key blow as the Angels scored all their runs off Giants' starter Juan Marichal in the fifth inning. Ken McBride went six innings for Los Angeles, allowing only four hits, and Tex Clevenger finished up with a three-hit performance.

The Pirates, first team to win 10 games, jumped on White Sox starter Early Wynn for seven runs in the first and coasted behind pitching ace Bob Friend. Friend scattered five hits in a seven-inning outing, walking only one and striking out four.

Robin Roberts, Frank Sullivan and Art Mahaffey stopped the Tigers on six hits for the Phils and received home run support from Pancho Herrera and John Callison.

Mickey Mantle knocked in six runs with two homers, a double and single and Bill Skowron added three with a Homer and two singles as the Yanks beat the Braves.

Junior Gilligan's ninth inning pinch single with the bases loaded won it for the Dodgers, who got three innings of no-hit relief from Larry Sherry against the Twins.

Semi-finals Of NIT Cage Play Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton matches its height and scoring touch against St. Louis' rugged defense while Holy Cross and Providence collide in the semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament tonight.

The opener pits Dayton against St. Louis. Holy Cross and Providence meet in the Madison Square Garden windup. The two winners will meet for the title Saturday following the third place playoff between the losers.

Dayton, the only survivor of the four seeded teams in the 12-team field, was lucky to get past Temple's small, pesky quintet in the quarter-finals Tuesday night. The Flyers, towering over their opponents from Philadelphia, over-

Marshall Man Named Army Team Captain

WEST POINT, N. Y. — Steve Sherard, 5-10 guard from Marshall, Mo., was named captain of the Army basketball team Wednesday.

One of the top free throw shooters in the country and the leading Army scorer with a 16.8 point average, Sherard led the cadets to their most successful 17-7 season.

ties—in the Class S state championship game. Although his most outstanding achievement in the basketball arena where he established a four-game Class S high of 104 points, he was a consistent 20 points a game and rugged rebounding partner to the team. The season saw Kearney raced to a successful 27-7 season. He totaled 660 points.

PAUL CRUTCHFIELD, Malta Bend — A solid all-round performer, Crutchfield used his unusual jumping ability, 11 feet, to score 10 points a game and score 17 points a game as Malta Bend raced unbeaten through 32 games before falling to championship bound Kearney in the state tournament.

BILLY GARETT, 5-B guard, averaged 18 points per game, had 46 per cent shooting average and 76 per cent free-throw line. Long was his specialty.

REX ELLIS, Gilman City, 5-B senior — A sharpshooting forward, the quick-handed Ellis scored 65 points in guiding Gilman City to a 29-5 season. Fast and above average on defense, Ellis figured heavily in rebound scrambles, with 12 to 15 a game, considered above average for a player of his size.

DON FRIEDMAN, St. George of Memphis. At 7 feet, this senior is one of the tallest players in Missouri. Scored 616 points this season for 22.7 per cent average. Had 509 points in his junior year. Averaged 15 rebounds at 15 per game.

Injury in his first game of the season, last week in October, hampered him through the year. Missed several games and his coach James Redd rested him whenever possible to prevent re-injury. Did not play at full tilt until Class S regional in February.

RON HORN, Marion, Doe 10 — High balloting along with All-American Bill Bradley (Class L) and led team to third place in Class S State. A top student academically, Clinton was same on court as team's top rebounder, scorer and play maker.

Hit better than 50 per cent of field goal attempts in scoring 302 points with 18 per cent average. Team ended season with 23-8 record, one of best in school history.

JUNIOR FIFE, Bourbon. This 6-3 senior was a four-year letterman for Central Valley.

Considered greatest all-around player in school's history. Set new school rebound mark of 506 this year in leading Bourbon to 24-7 record. Picked off 1248 rebounds in four years.

Scored 477 points this year and has tallied 1118 in four years, also a school record.

TERREN HOWELL — This 5-11½ senior from New Bloomfield was the top scorer this season for the Wildcats. The lanky left-hander hit 50 points and gathered in 33 rebounds to pace his team. Class S Squad to square to 18 victories against eight defeats, one of the best records posted in central Missouri this year.

Scored 477 points this year and has tallied 1118 in four years, also a school record.

JOHN JAHN, Elsberry — Described as best little district. Team leader on and off court, superior student. Averaged 22 points a game for Indians, runners-up in Eastern Missouri. Scored over 22 seasons. Effective on jump and set shots from outside, hit 80 per cent of his free throws. Good speed defensive savvy, considered one of the best prospects.

ENOS HUBBARD, C. C. Hubbard, Sedalia, senior, 6-2, 175 pounds. Scored 456 points for an average 19. He made 62 free throws of 74 percent, average 20. Best rebounders of the area, averaged 20 rebounds per game. As a left-hander, considered the most accurate shooter on court. Scored 1000 points outside and mid-court. Johnson has the distinction of not fouling out of any game, his highest total in any game being four and five games never, he had 48 foul-free for a two year record.

Johnson is one of the fine Negroes to be named to an All-State team from an all-Negro school since 1954.

came an 11-point deficit in the second half and won out 62-60.

The Flyers won't have as big a height advantage over St. Louis. The Billikens stress possession and defense and could make things real tough for the seeded Ohioans. St. Louis, led by Gordon Hartweger and Bill Nordmann, eliminated Miami (Fla.) 58-56 and seeded Colorado State U., 59-53.

New Corneas Could Help Sisters See

NEW YORK (AP) — In three weeks, Jennie Hull will open her eyes, and she will know.

She will see as others see, or the world around her will be blurred—as it has been for nearly 20 years.

This is the outlook for Mrs. Hull, 57, of Bradford, Pa.

Her two sisters — Lorraine Schell, 51, of Garden City, N.Y., and Reva Schneider, 44, of Miami, Fla.—face the same outlook. They were to be operated on today. Mrs. Hull underwent surgery Tuesday.

The sisters all have corneal dystrophy, an affliction that has plagued four generations of the Charles Specht family.

"We see the world blurred," Mrs. Schell explained. "It's as though there's a piece of gauze over our eyes. At home in Emporium, Pa., when we were young, grandpa Specht had it. He was blind when he died. And mama, Carrie Gross, had it, too."

But there is hope for the sisters.

Through the Eye-Bank for Sight Restoration Inc. at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, the sisters made arrangements to receive corneas left by donors. All were to have been operated on Tuesday.

But there was only one eye available—from a young man of 29 who had died.

The sisters talked it over, and Jennie asked to be the one.

The Eries were the only tribe of Indians in Ohio when the white man first came to the region.

May Cause Some TumorsPossible Cancer Producing Bomb Described by DoctorBy FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Evidence of a possible cancer-producing chemical bomb in all humans—happily a dud in most cases—was reported today by scientists.

Dr. Antonio Rottino of St. Vincent's Hospital told about it in suggesting a novel concept of the cause of at least some cancers in man.

They may be due, he said, to the sudden triggering into haywire activity of a body chemical which ordinarily serves a useful purpose in the maintenance of life.

Addressing a seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Dr. Rottino said he had obtained from the blood serum of both normal and cancerous people and from certain animal and plant tissues, a substance he calls "tumor-inducing-complex" or "TIC" for short.

This "TIC," when injected into certain kinds of mice or into larval forms of the drosophila fruit fly, induced formation of tumors.

The researchers said he and colleagues also had found, in association with "TIC," certain other components—one of which enhances its activity, while the other suppresses it.

It might well be, he said, that "TIC" is ordinarily kept in a well behaved and productive state by the balanced activity of these latter two factors.

But a disbalance in either direction might well provide the triggering mechanism for an explosion of "TIC," he said.

Rottino said the research was done in cooperation with scientists of New York University and California Institute of Technology.

He said the concept might well tie in with the theory of some scientists that some forms of cancer at least are due to viruses because, he declared, "TIC may, in fact, be a virus."

At the same meeting, Dr. Ludwik Gross of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bronx, N.Y., one of the world's foremost researchers on mouse leukemia, flatly declared: "I think the basis of all human tumors is a group of viruses."

He said that in his view anything else that might be associated with cancer production—such as radiation or certain chemicals—serves only to activate latent viruses.

His statements were directly or indirectly challenged by some other scientists. Dr. Wilhelmina F. Dunning of the University of Miami said cancers have been produced experimentally in animals by agents other than viruses—including a parasitic tapeworm from cuts which can cause cancers in rats.

Networks Are Again Taping Press Meets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When President John F. Kennedy's news conferences are not televised live, network enthusiasm for broadcasting the complete session apparently vanishes. It is hard to see much difference between a live telecast and a taped program put on the air as soon as the meeting is over. But obviously it makes a big difference to the men who make decisions about news and control programming on network TV.

Last week, for instance, all three networks were back to Eisenhower-era practices of excising brief snippets from the tape, mostly closeups of the chief of state, and having a network newscaster explain what he was talking about.

Meanwhile the routine handling of the presidential news conference has caused some confusion on the part of affiliated TV stations, many of which are eager and willing to broadcast the entire conference, and disappointment of the public which enjoyed watching those which were fully televised.

"Our position is—and has been—that we would decide on an individual basis of each conference what we would carry," explained NBC news head William R. McAndrew. "It is a matter of exercising our own news judgment."

James Hagerty, head of ABC news, echoed the principle, but added that "any time the White House requests live coverage of a press conference, they're going to get it on ABC."

One big problem, however, is alerting the various TV stations far enough in advance of plans to broadcast a taped news conference in its entirety.

"If a press conference is held in the morning, we can notify the stations several hours ahead that we plan to broadcast the conference in the late afternoon," Hagerty said. "But we still get in trouble if the conference is held at 4 p.m., is over at 4:30 and we decide to broadcast the tape at 5 p.m."

CBS' Show of the Month rang down its final curtain Tuesday night with a quiet and slow-moving tragedy called "The Night of the Storm." An original script by Horton Foote, it was more an essay on loneliness and desperation than anything else.

Although Julie Harris, Jo Van Fleet and E. G. Marshall officially headed the cast, the principal role was that of a boy of 12, Brad Herrman was magnificent as a sensitive child first aban-

The following groups of the Broadway Presbyterian Church met Thursday, March 16.

Group No. 1 met at the home of Mrs. E. M. Stafford, Jr., 419 Dal-Whi-Mo. A dessert was served by the hostess followed by the business meeting with Mrs. Clyde Heynen, chairman, presiding.

Mrs. C. C. DeLozier led the devotion from John's Gospel and Mrs. D. Warren Neal led the lesson discussion, "What Makes a Christian Family."

The next meeting will be April 20 at the home of Mrs. Claude Hammond, 1006 East 16th.

Group No. 8 met with Mrs. Mabel James, 801 East Sixth.

Mrs. Clyde Miller led the devotion, "I Am the Life," from John's Gospel, 4 to 6.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Burton Estabrook, 226 State Fair Blvd.

Group No. 4 met at 9:30 a.m. with Mrs. Kenneth Smith, 661 East 11th.

Mrs. James Hall led the devotion from John's Gospel, 4 to 6, "I Am the Head of Life."

The program was given by

Willing B. Foulke

One Man Is Seeking to Buy DuPont Share of GM Stock

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A self-educated engineering consultant is sitting, waiting and hoping that a U.S. Supreme Court decision will give him an opportunity to make a $25-billion bid for the Du Pont Company's 63 million shares of General Motors stock.

Willing B. Foulke, a former Du Pont executive and brother-in-law of E. Paul du Pont, has spent thousands of dollars and countless hours designing a proposal germinated while relaxing in front of a television set.

Foulke, 62, an intense but mild-mannered sort, was bitten with the idea of purchasing the Du Pont interest in GM from the time in 1957 that the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the chemical firm's 23 per cent interest in the automobile corporation violated antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court ruled four years ago that Du Pont should divest itself of its vast GM holdings. In 1959, however, the U.S. District Court in Chicago, aiming to carry out the high court's order, said Du Pont could continue to own the stock but had to transfer voting rights to individual Du Pont stockholders, other than Du Pont family members.

The nation's highest court presently is considering a government appeal of the District Court's interpretation of the 1957 order. Du Pont seeks to have the lower no facts surrounding the transaction which would justify a conclusion that Du Pont's stockholders were using the foundation to evade payment of taxes.

Foulke says he earns in the neighborhood of $10,000 a year as a semi-retired engineering consultant.

The foundation, he says, will engage in charitable, scientific and educational purposes.

He plans special consideration for the health and welfare of mothers and children, Boy and Girl Scout groups, Boy's Clubs, the National Rifle Association's junior training program, the Salvation Army and the Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia.

Annual payments for the stock would come from 88 per cent of the cash dividends earned each year by the GM stock, the amounts varying from $101 million to $480 million over the next 87 years.

The foundation also presented Du Pont with an alternative proposal in which it would issue warrants to Du Pont stockholders, which could be turned in for GM stock on the basis of one share for each share of Du Pont held.

The price would be $60 at the start to a high of $100 in 1984.

In addition to the financial arrangement, the foundation has taken steps to assure GM will control the voting rights vested in the stock by inviting the president or the chairman of the board of the auto firm to serve as the head of the foundation.

Foulke's big problem in this unusual project, strangely enough, wasn't money. His task, he explains, was to evolve a plan whereby the Du Pont holdings in GM could be purchased without a huge tax burden on Du Pont stockholders.

He was watching Danny Kaye on TV one night when the comedian was doing a United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund show. Then the idea of a charitable foundation came to the one-time director of Du Pont's minerals separation division.

Foulke maintains his plan averts the immediate payment of a large capital gains tax, protects Du Pont stockholders from an undue tax burden and prevents any alarming stock market repercussions.

The sale, he says, would be an installment deal and the impact of federal taxes would thus be reduced to a minimum. He maintains that Du Pont would not be required to distribute the annual proceeds of the sale, but could retain the money for use in its business.

Revenue regulations, Foulke says, would not apply as there are BULL'S-EYE—Remarkable accuracy of the Air Force's air-to-air Falcon missile is demonstrated by the hole in this 36-inch aluminum target. Standing beside one of the missiles and looking through the hole is James J. O'Reilly, test pilot for Hughes Aircraft Co., maker of the missile. The disc was hit dead center from more than a mile away. In tests at Holloman AFB, N.M., such discs were suspended from a tower and heated to simulate a jet's exhaust. Heat-seeking Falcons were then fired at them from aircraft.

The Business World

Stock Market Prices Are Constantly Edging Upward

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Here we go again. That is, we will if you believe all the talk about another bull market being born, or confirmed, or definitely gathering strength in Wall Street.

Stock prices in general have been rising since early fall. They've had periods of stagnation, sometimes of decline after bad news, but the general trend has been upward.

Much of the public has been confused by the wide variety of explanations and expert counseling. Enough traders have been optimistic, however, to keep prices rising—if only on hopes of better times, or fears of more inflation.

And much of the public has been fascinated. Heavy trading shows that the public has been in the market. Usually it has been giving special favorites a ride in turn. And always there's been talk, talk, talk about market prospects, about chances for a quick killing.

Now the long, slow rising trend of prices has been confirmed to the satisfaction of the followers of the Dow theory. This is because the Dow Jones index of railroad share prices has broken through a level where previously it had been turned back. The industrial index already had pierced its former resistance level. According to the theorists, from now on the course should be upward—but definitely. They officially dub it a bull market.

The chartists and their followers may be fewer in recent years than in their heyday before the 1929 stock market crash. But by acting in concert they often influence the market, if only temporarily.

And some observers in Wall Street think this is what has been happening this week. According to this view, followers of the Dow theory climbed aboard the bandwagon Tuesday as the rail index suddenly spurted toward the resistance point after lagging most of March.

Many who don't follow the Dow theory still respect its influence and climbed aboard too for the ride. All this helped send the rails higher on a day when the industrials were faltering.

Critics of the charts, and of the various indexes themselves, point out that they are only general at best. Individual stocks don't necessarily go the same way. Often stocks of whole industries buck the trend.

You may own the lucky leaders. But you may find that the stocks you own just don't seem to have heard about the rising indexes, or about a bull market either, for that matter.

This could account for much of the large volume of selling in recent weeks among the odd lot holders—those buying or selling fewer stocks than the 100 shares that constitute a round lot. These odd-lot sellers could be getting out of old holdings that disappoint them by holding aloof from the bull market. They could be lured by the currently more glamorous stocks, or they may be still shopping around.

Public enthusiasm can feed the newly acclaimed bull market. Any marked shift in public confidence in the future of the economy or in the ability of stocks in general to keep on rising indefinitely could change the scene quickly.

Deafness in an Age of Noise

We are now living in the noisiest age of history. As a consequence deafness is now the leading physical disability affecting 6,000,000 men, women and children.

According to a publication for physicians called "Patterns of Disease," the expansion of industry and the development of high-speed machines are causing more and more noise-induced deafness.

A person exposed to continual high-decibel noise on the job becomes deafened by the end of the work day. Of course, this doesn't take into account the office chatter and clatter that may not provoke deafness, but surely frays the nerves. This, we suppose, is a subject for the psychiatrist.

Usually a person deafened by noise on the job finds his hearing is restored by morning, to start the cycle all over again.

This occupational deafness may become chronic over a long period of time if it is not controlled.

The degree of hearing loss in industry depends on the level of sound, the duration of the noise and each individual's susceptibility.

Some of the old disturbing noises have vanished, such as the hawker and criers, the clatter of horses' hoofs. Compared with airplanes, diesels, automobile and factory din, they belonged to an age in which they lent atmosphere and color.

Deafness due to noise may become permanent enough to cause unemployment and require rehabilitation. Much can be done for the deaf who are adaptable to lip reading and hearing aids, but for the 250,000 people spread throughout the population who have never been able to hear and who may be "lip deaf" or unable to communicate except through their eyes, deafness can cause a mental block.

Some deaf persons are sent to mental hospitals. They need psychiatric treatment to be able to adjust to their deafness when there is nothing the matter with their minds. Deaf persons have been found to be successful in the printing trades and certain professional and managerial positions.

Aiding the permanently deaf is difficult, but certainly industry and civic improvement agencies can work as hard on noise abatement as on smoke abatement and other community disturbances that affect the public health.

Bob Kennedy Lets In Some Fresh Air

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Two months have passed since President Kennedy made the most controversial of all appointments to his cabinet—that of his brother. This column was among the skeptical about the wisdom of the appointment; so with enough time elapsed for the new attorney general to find himself, let's take a look at how he is doing.

On the surface Bob Kennedy has caused a revolution in the normally punctilious, sometimes red-tape-bound Justice Department. The long, high-domed office of the attorney general, which resembles the corridor-like office through which Benito Mussolini made his visitors tramp before reaching his desk, is now cluttered with stenographers, desks, and typewriters. The new attorney general has abdicated. Instead he sits in a small office in the rear where, in shirt sleeves and loosened necktie, he directs the far-flung personnel of his department.

In other parts of the Justice Department Bob Kennedy has also caused a revolution. Startled functionaries look up to see a straw-haired young man poking his nose in the door. "I'm Bob Kennedy," he says.

The revolution goes much deeper. It has even extended to other government agencies over which the attorney general has no jurisdiction.

National Crime Clean-Ups

Anxious to start a crime clean-up on a national scale, Kennedy called in the regional heads of the Internal Revenue Service and of the Narcotics Bureau. This was an unusual move, because Internal Revenue and Narcotics come under the Treasury Department, not Justice.

In some administrations, the secretary of the Treasury might have objected to putting his men under the direction of another cabinet chief, but Bob Kennedy has the advantage of being the President's brother. Also he is a dynamic and persuasive young man. So Secretary of the Treasury Dillon was glad to order his regional chiefs to Washington for the conference with Kennedy.

He told Internal Revenue agents to spend less time checking individual income taxes and more time catching criminals.

"We aren't interested in piling up impressive statistics," he said. "It isn't the number of cases that is important. We are interested in who, not how many, are being investigated."

"Several people who overstate their expense accounts aren't as important to bring to justice as a few who make it a profession to violate the income tax laws."

From the narcotics agents, Kennedy sought closer cooperation in pooling crime information.

"I don't care if my feelings get hurt," he told both groups. "I don't care if your feelings get hurt. The important thing is to get the job done."

Compromises and Retreats

The new attorney general has made some compromises and at least one retreat. The chief compromise was in continuing as commissioner of immigration, Gen. Joseph Swing, Eisenhower's West Point classmate. Few Eisenhower officials were more investigated and more criticized than Swing, but Bob Kennedy continued him at the request of influential congressmen during the height of the

Guest Editorial

HARTFORD (Conn.) COURANT: Fit the Crime. — Not too many months ago a motorist in eastern Connecticut sideswiped a State Police car, driving it off the road. There followed a hot pursuit with the driver zig-zagging all over the road until he was finally caught. When his record was checked it was found that just a couple of years before in almost exactly the same spot he had collided head on with an innocent motorist who was out driving with his family. The innocent man was killed leaving a widow and small child. But when the culprit appeared before the court to be charged with the second offense the defense attorney pleaded righteously that the man had stayed completely out of trouble ever since he killed his first victim until he nearly killed the State policeman, two years later.

Contrast this point of view with that expressed in a recent dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica. According to this story a chauffeur was recently arrested for driving dangerously and driving while under the influence of liquor. He was fined a few pounds and his license was suspended for 50 years.

Which attitude, we wonder, expresses more completely the idea of true justice? —

JFK Has New Way With Foreign Aid

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the name of tidiness and more mileage President Kennedy has proposed this country's joining OECD—Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—a 20-nation group.

Congress bought Secretary of State George C. Marshall's idea in June, 1947 when he suggested a program of aid to European countries to get them back on their feet after the war and save them from communism.

But when Congress set this foreign aid program in motion the next year it took it out from under Marshall's wing and created a new agency, the Economic Cooperation Administration, under Paul G. Hoffman.

This was just one more step in a story which started back in the war years: Taking more and more control away from the State Department in foreign dealings and scattering it around Washington.

Almost overnight the school teachers were paid.

Kennedy has been working on a lot of other things—juvenile delinquency in big cities, the problem of how a person with limited means can have the same opportunity as a wealthy man in the costly, complex system of our courts, and the speed-up of deportation cases. In all of this he has acted without fuss or fanfare, leaving the spotlight to his elder brother in the White House.

Since the end of World War II, the United States has spent $85.8 billion in such aid, of which $60.4 billion was in economic help, $25.4 billion in military assistance.

Just last week the Senate approved this country's joining OECD—Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—a 20-nation group.

Through it this country and its friends and allies can work out their own economic and trade problems while sharing aid to the underdeveloped nations.

The United States and its European allies have been spending about $7 billion a year to help the world's needy nations, with the American share being more than half. The Communists spend about $75 million a year.

Meanwhile, there was the problem, growing through the years, of scattered control over American efforts in the foreign field.

Last February a Senate subcommittee staff report complained of the Washington "foul-up factor." The result of the growth of so-called inter-agency coordinating committees.

These committees give dozens of departments and offices a hand in making policy. The report deplored the dilution of the secretary of state's responsibilities.

Kennedy has been abolishing a number of committees and he proposed Wednesday that all foreign aid except the military kind—which would be handled by the Defense Department—be put under one agency.

And he proposed to Congress that the administrator of this agency should report directly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the President.

Rusk would coordinate with the economic aid the military assistance administered by the Defense Department. As an example of what Kennedy was talking about, here's what he said:

"I propose that our separate and often confusing aid programs be integrated into a single administration embracing the present Washington and field operations of:

"The International Cooperation Administration (the successor to the agency which handled the Marshall Plan) and all its technical assistance (Point Four) and other programs; the Development Loan Fund; the food for peace program in its relations with other countries, while also recognizing its essential role in our farm economy; the local lending activities of the Export-Import Bank; the Peace Corps, recognizing its distinctive contribution beyond the area of economic development; the donation of non-agricultural surpluses from other national stockpiles of excess commodities or equipment; all other related staff and program services now provided by the Department of State as well as ICA."

Consideration of Desires Important to All of Us

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mike wanted the puppy as soon as he saw it. It was black like its mother and kept scrambling over its brothers and sisters to get on top of her. It was so soft and little Mike could feel the tiny bones in its body when he patted it; but soft though it was, it didn't whine when it fell off its mother's back but went right on trying to climb up on it.

When Mrs. Kent said he could have the puppy, he ran all the way home to ask permission to claim it. But in the kitchen his mother was talking to the cleaner's delivery boy about a spoon on Mike's father's new suit. So, Mike had to interrupt her crying: "Mom, listen! Buzz Kent's mother says I can have one of their dog's new puppies! It licked my hand! It wanted me to have it! Listen . . ."

"Not now, Mike — later," his mother said and resumed her conversation with the delivery boy.

But Mike didn't mind waiting. For before restoring her attention to the delivery boy, his mother had given him that look of hers—that quick, but deep, deep look that always sought for and found the importance of what he wanted from her. He knew that it had accurately measured the importance of his wish for the puppy. So he could wait, trusting her "later" to come true.

When it came true, it brought disappointment. Mike cried when his mother reminded him that with a new baby of her own coming, she wouldn't have time to help him train his puppy. But her "No" didn't make him angry at her. He knew that she was weighing his disappointment accurately as the heavy, sad thing it was.

Because of this appreciation of his feelings, Mike can stand not having them indulged better than many other little boys and girls.

It is when we don't try to measure the importance of children's feelings that feelings have to be indulged. It's then that little boys and girls must have the attention, the puppy, the candy bar no matter what. They must have the thing they want because the wanting itself has not been properly valued.

We are what we want. If our wants are not respected we, like children, know in our hearts that we're not respected either. That's when we start grabbing at things in an effort to comfort ourselves—puppies, candy bars, money, success, fame.

Democrat Pick-ups

By News Staff

The car was running along very smoothly out Highway 65, North, until it came to the curve at Claycomb Hill, then it slowed down and stopped.

The man looked at his wife and then at the gas gauge.

"Fine thing," he commented, "a garage man and out of gas."

He didn't know exactly what to do next. There was a steep hill in front of the car, this he knew, after he got around that curve. And a steep hill back of him. There were no service stations for at least two miles either way, and no telephone near, either.

For a few minutes he sat there and then, since it was downhill, decided to coast around the curve. Not that it would make any difference in just what spot he was stalled, but he thought he might as well go as far as he could.

The car moved slowly around the curve and he wondered for a minute if it was a mirage or was that a man with a five gallon can pouring gas in the tank of a station wagon just ahead.

He got out of his car and called to the man: "Don't use it all, Buddy. I need some, too."

"I started up the hill and ran out," said the man with the station wagon. But at least he was prepared — prepared enough for both of them.

"This is an awful place to run out of gas," said the garage man. "Looks like it would be an ideal spot for a service station, doesn't it?"

He bought the remainder of gas from the other fellow and within minutes they were both rolling up the steep hill and on their way.

The Doctor Says

Surgery Is Sane Course For Enlarged Prostate

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Under normal conditions, the prostate gland doesn't seem to do much of anything. It's about the size of a horse chestnut and it surrounds the neck of the bladder like a signet ring.

When the prostate of a senior citizen enlarges (hypertrophies), for reasons unknown, it contracts down on the bladder neck like a shirt collar that's shrunk a couple of sizes. When this happens, the old gentleman notes the need for frequent bladder evacuations.

When he visits his doctor, he is amazed to learn that he's not properly emptying his bladder. This is difficult to understand until it's explained that, at each of these frequent trips, only the overflow is disposed of. And it's been explained that increasing prostatic enlargement may result in a complete obstruction so that not even this overflow will escape. An operation usually is proposed at this time and all to often refused on the grounds of age or unwillingness to undergo surgery. Nonoperative treatment is requested and then begins a wasteful routine of massages and gland and vitamin shots. This is attended by many letters to me from far too many correspondents.

Now prostatic massage makes no more sense than trying to clear a clogged drain pipe by rubbing it with snake oil. And, while there's a remote chance that the size of the gland might be somewhat reduced temporarily by hormone injections there's no hope that vitamins will cause any shrinkage.

Usually I'm one of the last to recommend surgery. But if the gentleman who has written in will take my advice, they will seek the only method of relief at their command. And, with modern techniques, they will be pleasantly surprised at the ease and speed of their recovery.

Status Seekers' Bargain: Mr. Kennedy's Old House

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If the home has become America's No. 1 status symbol—as the experts say it has—a rare bargain in "homes for sale" was offered recently in Washington, D.C.

According to a news item the Georgetown house of President and Mrs. Kennedy was placed on the market. When America's first couple bought the house in 1957 they paid $78,000 to call it home.

It was said to be for sale for a mere $105,000—and cheap at the price for anyone looking for the ultimate in status symbols.

How much more in status could you get for a $27,000 markup than the former address of the man who just moved into the White House?

I haven't seen the house, but even if the roof leaks and the doors stick I say it's a steal at the price.

And just think—the new occupants won't have to do any redecorating.

If saucy little Caroline left any saucy marks on the walls they'll be a conversation piece.

If a guest doesn't approve of the decor the new mistress of the house can say nonchalantly, "Well, it isn't what I would have chosen. But we didn't think it

Pair Shares Same Room In Hospital

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—Critically injured in separate automobile accidents, Carl Tune, 46, and his wife, 44, for weeks have been unconscious in the same room of a Temple hospital.

Two daughters of the popular couple hover nearby constantly, aware that their parents' physician, Dr. James Pettigrew, expects no immediate improvement in their condition.

The girls, Janet, 18, and Kay, 20, have dropped out of college to be with their parents. Neither Tune nor his wife have shown improvement since they lapsed into unconsciousness.

The community College. Both wanted to be near their parents and they were needed to care for their brother, Carl Jr., 13, who continued in school here.

The Tuners are well known in central Texas for their work with young people and the ill. He was a member of the Temple Quarterback Club, officiated at Golden Gloves bouts, and helped with the Little League program in the area. He worked at the American Desk Co. and was known as an avid sports fan.

Mrs. Tune was graduated at the King's Daughters Hospital School of Nursing here and had been night supervisor of nurses at Scott and White Hospital for several years.

The Communications Workers of America, a union with which the family had no connections, started a fund drive for the children, without income since their parents were hospitalized.

Local cafes began donating coffee sales to the family. Railroad employees joined in the drive. So did King's Daughters Hospital.

After 10 days, there was $1,600

of money collected for the Community Committee for Social

If the name of the club begins with M, P, R, S, or T the leaders are invited to come Thursday, March 30.

Good Posture Pays in Housework

In schools called "The Art of Homemaking," the young homemakers studied good working habits. The homemaker who wants to make her work easier finds that good management, along with labor saving tools, equipment, and materials are important.

But, as homemakers taking part in these classes are discussing, posture in housework is also extremely important. Ideas such as keeping things within easy reach and making work surfaces the right height for comfort go hand in hand with good posture.

We all have one reach that is comfortable and easy. If supplies and equipment are placed beyond that distance, we waste energy and time in stretching, stooping, or walking to get things. For instance, you probably keep the dishes you use three times a day on shelves easiest to reach and those seldom used on high or low shelves. But can you apply this idea to other things? It takes just as much stretching to get towels, table linens, and the like, as dishes and glassware.

Can all your small supplies and equipment be stored where you use them first? In the kitchen, this means keeping the sauce pan nearest the water, while skillets stay nearest the range. Very often, it may mean buying duplicates of small inexpensive items like measuring spoons and cups, even the box of salt. Then they don't have to be carried from one place to another depending on whether you're mixing or cooking at the range.

Keep all sewing supplies and equipment together to avoid unnecessary steps as you sew. And we could go on and on. No doubt you have many other jobs around the house to which you apply this principle of easy reach.

Posture is important whether you are standing or sitting. Sitting is less tiring than standing. Why stand, then, if we can do the job with less energy and just as well when sitting? A work surface which is too high or too low, or a chair which is not comfortable to sit in while working, can be the cause of poor posture and added fatigue.

Why not try sitting to iron? Adjustable ironing boards can be lowered to a comfortable level for sitting to iron and raised when standing.

Being conscious of your posture at all times is especially helpful. You will be less tired at the end of the day if you have made proper use of your body muscles. And for less strain in lifting try bending your knees instead of your back when lifting something from the floor or ground.

Easter Egg Time

With Easter (April 2nd) only a few days away, now seems like a good time to mention a food that is always a favorite at this time of the year—the Easter Egg. Since many of you will be cooking and coloring eggs for the holiday, it is not too early to make plans now.

Because white shells dye in clear bright colors, white shelled eggs, generally, are in heavy demand the week before Easter. Sometimes this affects the price. Brown or speckled shells don't take color in quite the same way as white shells, but they do give unusual color effects and they may be an economical choice for coloring in special ways.

Cooking Eggs for Coloring—it is a good idea to let eggs warm to room temperature before cooking in the shell. This helps avoid cracking shells. For hard cooked eggs in the shell, place in cold water (make sure they are covered completely with water). Simmer eggs 20-25 minutes. Do not let the water boil. Too much heat makes the egg whites tough and hard to digest. When the eggs are cooked, cool promptly in cold water. This helps prevent the green discoloration on the surface of the yolk, and makes the shell easier to remove.

Eating Dyed Cooked Eggs—Mothers frequently ask whether children should eat dyed cooked eggs. A statement that the color is harmless may be found on the package containing Easter Egg dyes. Though the dyed eggs are hard cooked, it is best to eat them within a day or two.

Gelatine Eggs
One of the simplest ways to color the hard cooked Easter Eggs, is to use wax crayons. Designs can be drawn quickly and effectively on white eggs.

Thought for the Week

Well deserved praise is oil for a smooth running household. Naging is sand in the cogs.

Let the empty shells dry. Then rinse in hot water—they will take dye better.
